NAVY 'Y' TAKING GOBS ON JAUNT IN CHINESE CITY

Ball At Town Hall Tomorrow Night To Be Followed By Another Monday

Following an enjoyable sukiyaki party that was given last night at the Navy Y.M.C.A. for a large number of men from the twenty-two American warecraft now in port, another entertainment that has been arranged by the Navy 'Y' is to be provided this afternoon in the form of a sightseeing trip through the Chinese City.

The big party of sailor guests at last night's party were entertained by ladies of the Overseas League and after the food had been served by the hostesses to groups seated on mats on the floor an impromptu entertainment was given with the assistance of an orchestra that was present.

The sightseeing tour is to start this afternoon from the Navy 'Y' on Avenue Edward VII at 3 o'clock and arrangements have been made for the taking of group pictures in the Chinese City. Civilians are invited to accompany the visiting sightseers on the jaunt through the Chinese City.

One of the outstanding events of the present visit of the Asiatic Fleet to Shanghai will be the ball at the Town Hall tomorrow evening. Mr. George Fitch, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. has in charge arrangements for the ball which is being given by the Navy Y.M.C.A. under the auspices of the American Woman's Club. Music is to be supplied by the band from the Huron.

Men of the U.S.S. Huron have engaged the Town Hall for Monday night when they will be hosts at another dancing party and another big gathering for the affair is assured. The Huron band will play again at this ball.

According to plans announced a reception for Admiral E. A. Anderson and his staff is to be held on Saturday afternoon at the Navy Y.M.C.A. Consular and other American officials are being invited to this.

Admiral E. A. Anderson, the new Commander-in-Chief of the American Asiatic fleet, Mr. E. S. Cunningham, United States Consul-General, and members of their staffs paid formal calls on various high Chinese officials yesterday returning the official calls made by the Chinese authorities on them on Tuesday.

The Admiral and Consul-General called on General Ho Feng-lin, Military Governor of Shanghai and Sungkiang; Commissioner for Foreign Affairs Hsu Yuan, and Admiral Chou, Chief of the Chinese Admiralty.

It is the first visit that the new Admiral has made on Chinese authorities in Shanghai as the fleet has just arrived here. Before coming to Shanghai on the Huron, however, he paid official calls on the authorities at Peking, including President Li Yuan-hung.

CHINESE TONIGHT WILL CELEBRATE AUTUMN FESTIVAL

If Moon Is Veiled Great Will Be Disappointment

Today is the Chinese Mid-Autumn Festival when Chinese throughout the country celebrate the harvest season and the full moon. It is also the second settlement day of the year, when all bills, claims, disputes and controversies are to be settled. The other two days of settlement in the year are the Dragon Boat Festival and the New Year Holiday.

Failure of the appearance of the full moon tonight will disappoint millions of Chinese who will offer sacrifices to the "Jade Rabbit" in her full glory. The offerings will consist of the incense bowl filled with sandal wood sawdust, which will be set to smoke at the auspicious moment when the moon makes its appearance, or in case of inclement weather, when she is due to appear, "moon cakes," specially baked for the occasion, fruits and candies. Gifts are exchanged between families and among members of the household, while servants will exercise an eagle eye for the usual cumshaw.

Well-to-do Chinese generally stay home for dinner tonight, because this gathering, according to the Chinese idea, should be perfect, complete and as integral as the moon on the 15th of each lunar month. In country homes thanksgiving is also offered for the crop, which is usually harvested before this day.

Many legends have arisen out of the time-honored festival. The most popular of these is in connection with the visit of Emporer Ming Huang of the Tang Dynasty, who is said to have gained access to the Moon by the Great Milky Way and struck up an acquaintanceship with the Goddess of the Moon, named Chang O, who kept a troupe of dancing girls which performed to the delight of the royal visitor. The dances were later duplicated in the Courts of the Imperial Tang Dynasty and have formed the basis for royal entertainments thereafter. Local theaters will stage this historical tribute to the Moon tonight in honor of the occasion.

INVESTIGATOR TELLS HOW HE SOUGHT OUT FAKE LIQUOR

Concluding Testimony Is Taken In Giesel Case

TELLS OF DEALS

Final Argument Is To Be Heard Tomorrow

The story of events leading up to the raid on the Chaoufoong Road godown of Giesel and Company and resulting in the charging of Mr. A. Giesel with the manufacture and sale of spurious liquors was retailed in the French Mixed Court yesterday when concluding testimony was taken in the case and further evidence was called by the defense tending to place the blame on Mr. A. C. Mack, a former employe of the Giesel firm.

The hearing was adjourned at a late hour by Assessor P. Crepin and Magistrate Nieh and will be resumed Friday morning, when Dr. O. Fischer, for the defendant, and Mr. H. Le Goullec, for the prosecution, will present their closing arguments.

The principal witnesses called yesterday were Mr. N. Blumenthal who was responsible for the alleged fake liquor manufacturing being brought to light, and Mr. L. Battistuzzi, formerly employed by Giesel and Company and alleged to have been the man who mixed the imitation of several well known brands of drinkables.

TELLS OF INVESTIGATION

Mr. Blumenthal told of his investigation regarding imitations of Hennessy brandy and Noilly Prat vermouth, which imitation he had been led to suspect was going on here. He is a representative of L. Rondon, agents for the two brands, and states that on a trip through the South he found large quantities of imitations of these brands on the markets in Canton, Foochow and Amoy. On his return to Shanghai he reported the matter to his firm, the heads of which found that samples of the imitation vermouth compared with vermouth sold previously by Reid and Co., Ltd., a firm now in liquidation. Early during July, through chance, the witness met a salesman offering Noilly Prat vermouth for sale. He recognised it as spurious and informed Mr. W. Gande, of Gande, Price and Co., of the matter, the brand having been offered to the latter.

The following day the salesman in question came to Rondon's office and said that he had been offered this vermouth on the account of the Deshler Purchasing Agency. Receiving instructions to investigate the matter, Mr. Blumenthal sent a salesman to Deshler's to get quotations on French vermouth. The price quoted was $10 per case for minimum orders of 50 cases. No guarantee of contents was given. Through the intermediary salesman Mr. Blumenthal offered to buy 50 cases on condition that he be allowed to examine same in godown to see if they were full cases and properly labelled. The address of the godown was given and on the following day the witness went to 1A Chaoufoong Road, to a godown bearing the name of Giesel and Co. Here he met Mr. Mack, a former employe of Reid and Co. He asked a number of questions regarding witness' business and where he planned to ship the vermouth and then, evidently satisfied, gave the address of a Chinese house in Yochow Road, where witness went and found about 150 cases of imitation vermouth. He opened one case and took a couple of bottles as samples. Mr. Blumenthal then settled with the salesman he had engaged, not desiring him to know that Noilly Prat were interested. He took the samples to his firm and they, suspecting that quantities of Hennessy brandy which he had seen in the house were also imitations, asked him to investigate this phase also. Mr. Gande, who was consulted, concurred in the belief and said he suspected John Haig whisky and Martel brandy were also being manufactured here and authorised Mr. Blumenthal to place orders for 50 cases of these brands in order to

U. S. ATTORNEY L. G. HUSAR BACK FROM TRIP NORTH

Judge Lobingier Will Return About October 15 After Visit To Peking

United States District Attorney Leonard G. Husar, who has been visiting northern centers through the past month and who appeared last week in trials held before the United States Court for China at Tientsin, returned to Shanghai last night on the Peking Express.

Mr. Husar said last night that Judge Lobingier expected to conclude the present term of court at Tientsin about the ninth of the month after which he would go to Peking for a week and probably will be back in Shanghai about October 15.

Mr. Husar went North four weeks ago to watch American interests in the big tramways damage suit brought by an American firm in Mukden, and then went to Peking to investigate the death of Chief Electrician B. Quinn, who died in the Peking Union Medical Hospital following the administration of cocaine instead of novocaine preceding an operation.

It was Mr. Husar's intention of returning to Shanghai earlier but charges were filed against Mr. Charles Hannigs, which necessitated his stopping in Tientsin until the case, which he prosecuted, was heard by Judge Charles S. Lobingier.

Dyson To Lecture To Woman's Club On Old California

Themes from by-gone days of California have been selected for a series of lectures by Mr. Verne Dyson, member of the Authors' League of America, which are announced by the Southwestern Division of the American Woman's Club for the benefit of the building fund. Mr. Dyson's first address, "California's Rosary—the Chain of Franciscan Missions," will be given at 5:15 o'clock, Friday afternoon, October 13, in the music room at the home of Dr. Anne Walter Fearn, president of the club, No. 30 Route Pichon. Tea will be served at 4:30 o'clock; total entrance fee, $1.

The basis of Mr. Dyson's study of California history is the Hazard Collection of original Spanish manuscripts, prints, pictures and rare documents, relating to the Spanish and Mexican epochs, which he purchased five years ago from the estate of the late George W. Hazard, brother of Mayor Henry T. Hazard of Los Angeles. Aside from a careful reading of these records, Mr. Dyson made a comprehensive study of Pacific Coast history in the Bancroft Library at the University of California, the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., and the public library of New York City.

VOLUNTEER FLEET SUIT DISMISSED IN MIXED COURT

Action Brought By Erivan Crew Thrown Out When Attorney's Interpreter Is Absent

Suit brought by members of the crew of the steamer Erivan against the Russian Volunteer Fleet was dismissed yesterday in the Mixed Court because Magistrate Tsang and Assessor Ivanoff held that Attorney L. W. Hartigan, for the plaintiffs, committed a breach of procedure as his interpreter was not present.

The case of the men, who are suing for back pay, has been dragging along for some time and on September 25 was remanded until yesterday to allow Mr. Hartigan to have his interpreter present.

At the last hearing Dr. Fischer, the attorney for R. H. Elleder, agent of the R. V. F., refused to allow Mr. Hartigan to use his interpreter as on this occasion, also. Mr. Hartigan's interpreter failed to put in an appearance.

Assessor Ivanoff announced that Mr. Hartigan's clients could bring another action for their wages.

ENVOYS FROM ALLIES REACH MUDANIA FOR CONFERENCES

They Meet Turkish Delegates In Preliminary Sessions

GREEKS ON WAY

Armistice, Ordered By Angora, Is Now In Effect

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Oct. 3.—The Allied Generals have arrived at Mudania and had a preliminary consultation this morning. They met the Turkish representative, Ismet Pasha, this afternoon. The meeting was adjourned to allow of the attendance of the Greek General.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 4.—The attitude of Greece is probably foreshadowed by a letter to the Times from M. Venizelos pleading that until a peace treaty has been concluded and executed East Thrace should be occupied by Allied troops in order to enable the Allies to assure orderly evacuation of the Christian population before Turkish occupation begins. M. Venizelos apprehends that otherwise the Turks annihilate the Christians and the Allied officers would be powerless to control them.

(French Wireless)

Paris, Oct. 3.—As a result of an order given by the National Assembly at Angora an armistice will come into force on all fronts.

The Havas Agency announces that the neutral zone has been evacuated by the Turkish troops and denies the reports of important concentrations of Turkish troops in the Brusa-Ismid district as devoid of foundation.

The Allied, Turkish and Greek Generals are meeting at Mudania today. M. Franklin Bouillon was present at the conference.

Following his conversations at Smyrna with Mustapha Kemal, M. Franklin Bouillon considers that the Allied proposals are capable of forming a basis for negotiations between the Allies and the Turks but rather concerning questions of form than concerning fundamental questions.

Mustapha Kemal arrived at Angora yesterday.

The Angora Government has communicated to the Allied High Commissioners a protest against the illtreatment of Turks by the Greeks. The protest alleges mass arrests and systematic looting of buildings, and states that the Mohammedan inhabitants of some districts can no longer leave their homes to buy food.

SOVIETS SEEK TO STIFFEN KEMALISTS

(China Press Service)

Berlin, Oct. 3.—The Moscow correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger reports that the Soviet government is bringing heavy pressure to bear upon Kemal Pasha instructing him not to yield to any of the British demands. The Soviet representatives have made many extravagant promises to him, which include both military and financial help.

Berlin, Oct. 3.—The Angora government has officially notified President Poincare anent its willingness to partake in the armistice negotiations during which time military operations will cease and the armies will remain in status quo. The note makes insistant demands that the Greek armies evacuate Thrace without delay, and that the territory now under Greek military control be returned at once to the national jurisdiction of Angora. The note further intimates that if Kemal Pasha threatens reprisals, or if his demands cannot be entertained for any reason whatsoever, negotiations will be immediately broken off. However the note should not be considered in the light of an ultimatum but merely as a statement regarding Angora's position.

London, Oct. 3.—Recent dispatches received by the British Foreign Office from Constantinople state that the Assembly of Nationalists meeting at Angora have approved Mustapha Kemal's action in sending special delegates to the Mudania conference. Both governments have issued complete instructions to their delegates anent the length they are prepared to go to effect terms of peace which will be mutually acceptable.

Constantinople, Oct. 3.—A small detachment of Turkish irregular troops endeavored to cross the Thracian boundary last night. The attack was successfully repulsed by three Greek companies who drove the enemy before them in rout. The losses are believed to be insignificant. It is believed that the attack was merely a feint on the part of the Turks in order to test the Grecian garrison's strength.

LONDON TENSION NOTABLY DECREASED

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 3.—There is a notable relaxation in the tension over the situation in the near east. Utilising the editorial comment of the afternoon newspapers as a criterion it is evident that the British Lion is "breathing easier." The editors are unanimous in awarding unstinted praise to the tact and diplomacy displayed by General Harington in averting war.

London, Oct. 3.—The Soviet Government's protest against the "blockade" of the Straits is described as groundless. There is no blockade of the Dardanelles or the Bosphorus.

Constantinople, Oct. 3.—The Turkish column, which withdrew from Erenkeuy, afterwards moved circuitously, eventually approaching closer to Chanak. Today's report shows that there has been a slight backward movement on the entire Chanak front.

U. S. Warships To Leave For Near East

(China Press Service)

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 3.—Tonight twelve U. S. Destroyers headed by the U. S. S. Hopkins, The Flagship, slipped quietly out of Hampton Roads bound for the theater of war in the Near East.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 3.—For the past two days great activity has been manifest on all sides as twelve of Uncle Sam's newest Destroyers loaded munitions of war. Great secrecy was manifest as to their destination, the Navy yard refusing to make any statements.

Last night orders were received from the Navy Department to dispatch the twelve destroyers to the Mediterranean under the command of Captain C. M. Tozer, ostensibly to "watch developments in the Near East" and to protect American interests.

The decision to send the Destroyers to Mediterranean waters was partly due to a great avalanche of demands made on President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes to intervene in the Near East and if necessary join the British forces in quelling the Turkish uprising.

The majority of the demands came from various Church and welfare organisations throughout the country who have Relief Units operating in the Balkans. It is stated that great massacres of Christians have occurred and for this reason President Harding was urged to adopt a firm stand.

U. S. Doing Utmost To Help Refugees

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 3.—Replying to the Methodist Bishop, Cannon, who is now in Paris and who declared that Christian America would insist on its Government co-operating in the protection of Christians in Asia Minor by force of arms if necessary, the Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes, today cabled that the Government had done its utmost to aid the refugees and had exerted its influence against cruelty and oppression.

He emphasised the importance of an immediate and peaceful settlement in the interests of humanity. The executive has not been authorised to exceed the measures already adopted and there had been no action in Congress to justify the Government using armed forces in an attempt to pacify the Near East and solve problems which have vexed Europe for generations.

London, Oct. 3.—A correspondent, writing to the Times, suggests that the Rubber-Growers' Association should establish a small estate purely for the purposes of experimental and research work and the training of future managers and sub-managers. The Times considers that the suggestion is valuable and hopes that the Association will carefully consider it.

complete the investigation. This was about July 25.

TALKED WITH MACK

Witness saw Mack at the godown and told him that he was going into the interior and was interested in all kinds of liquors which might be able to obtain. He replied that he had some Hennessy and Martel brandy and that he was in a position to supply in any amount.

Mack, according to Mr. Blumenthal, took the latter to the top floor of the godown and showed him a complete plant for the distilling, bottling, corking and capping of liquors and assured him that the question of Martel, Hennessy or other brands was only one of labelling and that he could manufacture all of them. An Italian expert was employed, Mr. Blumenthal states Mack told him, and arrangements could be completed for the expert to call at Mr. Blumenthal's house to complete arrangements for the making of 100 cases of Hennessy brandy at $20 a case, 50 cases or John Haig whisky at $22, 50 cases of Martel brandy at $20 and fifty cases of Noilly Prat vermouth at $10.

Mack and Battistuzzi subsequantly called at Mr. Blumenthal's house and made a contract for the liquor, witness stated. This was signed by Battistuzzi alone, Mack having been called to Tientsin meanwhile, and the investigator was to take delivery when available and was to make a deposit when the 100 cases of Hennessy had been made.

Mr. Blumenthal participated, he stated, in the manufacturing of the Hennessy brandy at the Chaoufoong Road godown and the liquor, bottled, was then placed in beer cases and removed to the house in Yochow Road, where the labelling and packing was to be done. He said that case shooks were already there and he found one already stamped with the Hennessy trade mark.

Mack on his return from Tientsin pressed him for money and Mr. Blumenthal eventually promised $1,000 and gave a crossed check to Mack's order and received a receipt dated August 31 for the amount on account against an order for 100 cases of Hennessy, 50 cases of Martel and 100 cases of Noilly Prat vermouth. Mack explained that the receipt was signed by Battistuzzi because he, Mack, being British, and Giesel, being German, could not appear in the business.

Mr. Blumenthal stated that he could not obtain delivery in the time specified—he was told that it was on account of not being able to secure the labels—and on the advice of the firm and their attorneys the police were informed and the raids were made.

Mr. Blumenthal gave it as his opinion that the business carried on at the godown could not have been unknown at the Giesel and Co. head offices.

In his testimony Mr. Blumenthal said that during his visits to the Chaoufoong Road godown Mack had been in telephonic communication with the head offices of Giesel and Co., on one occasion making a report that he could not complete a shipment of whisky as it was too late.

Mr. Giesel denied to the court that he had held this conversation with Mack and Mack, called to the witness box, also denied that he had talked with Mr. Giesel regarding the brandy and declared that he had never discussed the Blumenthal business with the defendant.

Asked why he had not signed the receipt for Mr. Blumenthal, Mack said none had been asked for. He denied the statement attributed to him regarding nationalities.

Mack denied entering into the agreement with Blumenthal. He was in Tientsin at the time, he said. Battistuzzi made the agreement.

"What of the money payment?" queried the Assessor.

"That is another question," replied Mack.

"You refuse to answer?" asked the Court.

"I might incriminate myself," said Mack.

"I am sorry you are not a French citizen," was the Assessor's comment.

Mr. Giesel interrogated Mr. Blumenthal as to whether he did not think it queer Giesel and Company should not be mentioned in the transaction and asked why the purchaser had not required Mack to sign for the firm.

"Mr. Blumenthal has never been in our office," he said, "and has never even met any of our other employes, of whom there are many. Has he ever even attempted to meet any of them?"

"No," replied the witness.

At this juncture Mr. A. Bersouza, works manager of the Mercanile Printing Co., was called to the witness box and identified a sheet of Hennessy brandy labels as having been ordered from him by Mack. Mack had ordered 2,000, stating that they were to replace labels which had been damaged in shipment, but only the proofs and six or seven sheets had been printed before the directors of the company learned of the order and directed the printing to be stopped. The witness said that no Hennessy or Martel labels had ever been printed at the order of Giesel and Co., though other labels had been printed for the firm.

Mr. Giesel asked who had been informed that the printing had been stopped and witness stated that he thought a letter had been written to Mack.

Mr. E. Lewis, of the Mercantile Bank of India, called as a witness by Dr. Fischer, took the stand and was questioned regarding Reids, Ltd.

The goods taken over from that firm, he said, were in the hands of a receiver and certain portions had been sold by the bank for the receiver's account.

"Did you sell goods to Giesel and Co.?" asked the Assessor.

"Yes, on account of the receiver."

"Did you know if the goods from Reid's were genuine?"

"We took them as genuine."

"They were sold to Giesel as they were?"

"No question as to their genuineness was raised. I should think that such question should be put to the receiver."

"Did the bank think any of the goods were falsified," asked Mr. Giesel.

"I can't reply to that," said the witness. "The goods were put to us as genuine."

"I want to know," put in Mr. Giesel, hotly, "if the bank sold bona fide. Other people have 'hooked' me, maybe the bank has 'hooked' me, too. This witness must know, and I want to know now, in court—did the bank sell to me bona fide?"

"Yes," replied the witness.

"That's what I wanted to hear," declared the defendant.

The calling of Battistuzzi to the witness box brought recriminations between him and Mack, each denying the other's statements, until finally the court put both in the box and asked sarcastically which was the liar.

Battistuzzi said that he was formerly employed by Reid's as a wine expert, and when they liquidated joined the staff of Clerici, Bedoni as a clerk. He met Mack in June and the latter informed him that Giesel had taken over Reid's business, godowns, stock and machinery. Mack proposed that witness go to the godown and inspect certain liquors which had deteriorated owing to long storage.

He entered into an agreement to bring the liquors up to standard. He was to receive $300 for three months and was to work after hours. This agreement was made with Mr. Giesel personally, he said. Subsequently all his dealings were with Mr. Mack. He knew nothing of any falsification of trademarks or of adulteration. On going to the godown he always found the tank containing the liquor he was to deal with.

In July Mack came to him, witness said, and told of buying 200 cases of French vermouth and said he could resell to a Chinese. He would give the witness $200 to make a fake sale. He did not accept, but mentioned the matter to a friend, Mr. Alba, who made a receipt for the sale. Subsequently, Mack put up other propositions for fake sales.

The witness then told of the deal regarding the brandy for Mr. Blumenthal. Mack told him that the liquor specified would have to carry the Hennessy label and that he, Mack, would look after the bottles, cases and the needed ingredients. Witness had only to make the brandy and Mack would give him and Mr. Alba, who was to assist in the sale, half the proceeds. Mack said that the brandy would be made in the godown and that he would bring the necessary things there. He made the brandy.

Regarding the Blumenthal contract, Battistuzzi said that as Mack was away he signed a paper in which it was stipulated that Mr. Blumenthal was to buy 100 cases of Hennessy, 50 cases of Martel and 25 cases of whisky. He also signed a receipt which was given Mr. Blumenthal for a check payable to Mack. The receipt, he thought, was on a letter head bearing the title "Societa Italiana de Vini e Liquori" which Mack had had printed.

Mr. Giesel questioned the witness regarding the length of time required in the making of the brandy and as to when it was removed from the godown. The witness said it took him two or three days. He could not answer as to the removal. The defendant, when the Assessor read a number of formulas for liquor making from one of the books seized, stated that their existence had not hitherto been known to him.

"Mine is a big business," he said, "and up to the time of this trouble I had no reason for distrust. I told Mack when he was engaged that there was to be nothing illegitimate."

"How about the American whisky?" the Court inquired.

Defendant replied that this was purchased in lots from Japan and other places and was "stretched," and that this was by agreement with the original makers.

After some little further discussion over entries in the books the case was adjourned until tomorrow morning.

HOW TO "GROW" A NEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "hustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant: we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives, this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax, was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now universally obtainable gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and its clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

COMEDIES AT OLYMPIC

Two comedies, written, acted and produced by Chinese, will be shown at the Olympic Theater for four nights beginning tonight. One is entitled "Dzen's Romance" and unfolds a reputed laugh-producing story of how a simple Chinese carpenter pulls the strings of fate to allow him to marry the beauteous daughter of Dr. Tseo. The second film is China's Charlie Chaplin, the Oriental version of the famous American comedian.

Supply And Demand In Cotton Near Same Level

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Sept. 8.—The cotton market has been compelled to absorb large and unusually early Southern hedging sales this week. Because of dry, hot weather in Texas, the crop has opened earlier than usual, and planters being satisfied with the price, have marketed their cotton as fast as it was ginned. Without much speculative buying to absorb this weight, and with trade demand reluctant because of adverse industrial conditions, it was only taken up at considerable sacrifice in price. But on Thursday the situation changed considerably. Trade demand suddenly increased and commission houses reported a much greater buying interest on the part of the public. Some of the best people in the trade began to talk bullish and the market had quite a sharp rally.

In fact, there was a notable change of sentiment all round. But while expecting high prices eventually, the trade was inclined to be cautious about the immediate future of the market, recognising that the first of the new crop will undoubtedly be pressed for sale, possibly with further depressing effect on prices temporarily. The arguments for later strength take account of the improved labor situation and the more hopeful political situation abroad.

WEATHER UNFAVORABLE

Deterioration in the belt, especially in the Southwest, has undoubtedly gone on since the Government report, as the weather has continued dry and very hot, while reports indicate that weevil have spread to about all parts of the belt. In the opinion of well informed market students the September deterioration, therefore, is likely to be more than the average for the last ten years. If the yield should promise to be under rather than over ten million bales, it is pointed out, the position of the world's cotton industry will unquestionably be a highly uncomfortable one. Accepting Secretary Hester's figures on the total world's carry-over of American cotton, we have in every quarter of the globe, 4,904,000 bales to add to the present crop, or approximately 15 million bales, against which is to be set the world's consumption, which last year was in excess of 12,800,000 bales, and will presumably be at least as large this year.

Bulls point out that mills in all countries must carry stocks of American cotton for current use which cannot safely be allowed to fall below two million bales, besides which a certain quantity of cotton in the interior always fail to be marketed. Thus it will be seen that prospective supply and demand are more closely evened up than has been the case in a long time.

The Texas State Commissioner of Agriculture makes the bold statement that if the yield in other states is as low in proportion as that of Texas, the total crop of South will be less than ten million bales and warrants a price of at least 30 cents a pound. He declares there will be a cotton famine next year and nothing short of a conspiracy can keep the price from advancing.

SOME TO ORIENT

A freight broker of Galveston states that because of advantageous freight rates to Japan and China from Galveston, approximately 300,000 bales of cotton had been booked for shipment to those countries between now and December and booking is still reported active for Far Eastern points. It is said present ocean rates to the Orient are about on a parity with those from Galveston to Europe.

Memphis reports that Texas is making strenuous efforts to sell cotton wherever possible and at the best price obtainable. Normally there is a good demand for new-crop cotton in Texas from export sources, but there is no urgent foreign demand this season, except a little from Great Britain, Germany and France. Eastern mills are credited with fairly large purchases, but Southern mills are taking very little cotton from Texas largely because of poor transportation conditions.

A local cotton broker who handles in a large way accounts for both mills and Texas merchants, says that the ratio is about one to ten in favor of the mills who are buying cotton against the sales of goods.

A large new Bradford cotton yarn house, after reciting the bullish statistical features in cotton declares it to be sheer folly to postpone further the covering in of requirments of either cotton, cotton yarn or cotton goods, and adds that anyone who is able to guage even roughly his needs for the next six to ten months would be fully warranted in covering them all before prices really begin their inevitable advance.

Empress Boat Loses Race With "President Grant"

The story of a mid-Pacific Ocean race between the Admiral Line steamer President Grant and the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia, in which the American ship defeated the Russia, is told in Seattle newspapers arriving yesterday, and verified by members of the Grant's crew. The latter steamer arrived Monday from America. The big liners raced while following the same course and when they were but 300 feet apart in mid Ocean.

The story, as told in the Seattle Post Intelligencer, follows:

It wasn't a race, not even a trial of speed, August 20, when the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia pulled up alongside the Admiral liner President Grant, one day out of Yokohama. The Empress' passengers were lined up on deck and her band was standing by ready to play as she steamed gloriously past the Grant.

The band didn't play at all. The passengers, crew and officers did not howl their delight, nor did the Empress of Russia, the smartest ship of the Canadian line, pass the President Grant that summer day. And it was all due to the nervousness of the Admiral line ship.

"When the smoke of the Empress of Russia appeared low on the horizon the morning after we sailed from Yokohama," Capt. M. M. Jensen declared, "the President Grant became nervous; she appeared to be suffering from an acute desire to move, and we couldn't hold her back at all. It was no use whatever, and before we realised it the Empress of Russia was left trailing behind us. Ships are like women; every once in a while they do something quite unexpected, and I guess that's why the Empress of Russia didn't pass us August 20."

LINERS ON SAME COURSE

The President Grant docked at Smith Cove, Pier B, at 5 o'clock Monday, August 28. The voyage was made through summer seas. The chief event of the trip came the morning the Empress of Russia attempted to pass the Seattle ship. That the Empress of Russia was out to "trim" properly the President Grant was proclaimed in Hongkong, Shanghai and Yokohama, the passengers declare.

The route and departure of the two vessels was nearly identical from the time they sailed from Hongkong on the homeward voyage. The President Grant left Hongkong at 10 a.m. and two hours later the Empress of Russia steamed out of the harbor, both bound for Shanghai.

"We heard on every hand while in Hongkong that the Empress of Russia would land her passengers in Shanghai hours and hours ahead of the President Grant," the passengers said. "But when well up the China coast we hit a typhoon and the Empress disappeared from view. The President Grant proceeded on her way and we landed at Shanghai forty-eight hours before the travelers from the Empress of Russia showed up."

The two vessels, came together again at Yokohama, homeward bound. The President Grant sailed from the Japanese port for the Pacific Coast promptly on schedule, 3 p.m., August 19 and the Empress of Russia took her departure one hour later.

BLOWS OUT TUBE

Early the following morning, passengers declare, thick black smoke was seen back on the horizon, and out of this smudge the shapely form of the Empress of Russia emerged. She came tearing up directly behind the President Grant, which was making her regular allotted speed. Passengers, crew and band lined the deck of the Russia. The Empress of Russia swung out to pass gaily by, and just as her nose was in line with that of the President Grant, stage fright overpowered the latter vessel and she just naturally ran away. This was at 10 in the morning.

When night shut out the view, the President Grant could make out the Empress of Russia some eight miles behind. A blow-out in one of the condensing tubes of the President Grant compelled that vessel to slow down to one-third speed for eight hours, and then the Empress of Russia was enabled to make a gain of about sixty miles. When the break was repaired the President Grant went on her way, and when she reached Cape Flattery she had recovered virtually two-thirds of this loss.

As a result of the brush with the Empress of Russia all the cabin passengers of the President Grant signed a letter to Chairman A. D. Lasker of the Shipping Board, asking that the Grant and other board liners operated out of Seattle by the Admiral Line be allowed to run at full speed. Under existing regulations they are restricted to an average of 17.5 knots. Speed, says the letter to Mr. Lasker, is the paramount factor in the competition for passenger traffic in the northern transpacific route. The big liners have the speed, it is pointed out, and the passengers believe it should be used to the greatest degree possible.

Captain Jensen, who piloted the ship in the race, was laid off one trip for violating United States Shipping Board speed rules, which prohibit steamers travelling faster than 17½ knots.

Captain Griffith is in command of the Grant on this trip. The steamer sails for Hongkong this morning.

LAMONT, IN TALK TO U. S. BANKERS, ATTACKS TARIFF

Also Suggests Revision Of Debts Owed By Europe

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 3.—The well-known American banker, Mr. Thomas Lamont, addressing 10,000 delegates to the American Bankers' Convention today, said that the question of inter-Allied indebtedness had reached a stage in public opinion both in America and Europe, in which reparations was taking a secondary place. Germany could not or would not pay anything like the reparations total, fixed at Versailles.

Mr. Lamont appealed to the practical sense of Americans to determine what, if any, Allied debts to America could not be collected and should be written off "in order to quit fooling ourselves."

He declared that Europe was mending economically, notwithstanding the stormy political situation. He also criticised the American Tariff, which, he declared, protected industries which did not require protection while cutting off important foreign markets from manufacturers and farmers. America was recovering from business depression though the low prices of farm produce, strikes, the Tariff, the inter-Allied loans and reparations were still standing in the path of full prosperity.

Mr. Herrick, the American Ambassador in France, speaking at the same meeting, predicted that within a year America would formulate a program leading to the rejuvenation of Europe.

Public School Boys To Have Two Football Teams

Plans for the forthcoming football season were outlined at a meeting last night of the Shanghai Public Schools Old Boys' Club, winners of the Scottowe cup last year.

At the meeting, which was held in the assembly hall of the Cathedral school, Mr. A. M. Billings presided. In opening the meeting Mr. Billings gave a general review of last year's play, in which the club won ten and lost but two matches. The chairman, in this review of the season's work, expressed surprise that the boys should have entered the Scottowe cup competitions, to say nothing to winning it. This enterprise on the part of the boys was characterised by the chairman as "cheeky," but seeing that the boys won the cup his remarks elicited nothing more than a few knowing smiles.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read, a motion, proposed by Mr. Madar, that the club should have two elevens this season, one in the first and one in the second league, was unanimously carried. Then came the question of electing officials for the two teams, and as a result of the balloting Mr. P. Madar was chosen captain of the first league team, with Mr. J. Johansson vice captain. Mr. M. Moosa was chosen honorary secretary.

For the second team Mr. J. Pringle was chosen captain and Mr. C. M. Brown vice captain. Mr. S. Moosa was elected secretary. Some controversy followed over the selection of a committee but this was settled when Mr. Madar suggested the selection of the captains and vice capatins of the two elevens, with one advsor. This was carried, and Mr. Drake was chosen as the advisor.

Following the business session Mr. Billings delivered an address to the boys in which he stressed the importance of the "public school spirit." The school, he told them, was a factor of ever growing importance in the life of the community, and just as their responsibility was great, so was the duty to maintain the standards that had been established. He congratulated Mr. Drake for the wonderful results he had accomplished, and admonished the boys to continue worthy of the confidence that had been reposed in them. In conclusion he congratulated the captain and vice captain of last season's team, along with the players, and urged them to a repetition of their wonderful achievements.

This address by the chairman was listened to with the closest attention by all present, and at its conclusion a voice of thanks for the chairman was proposed by Mr. Madar, which was agreed to unanimously.

Football Candidates!

Those who may desire to join the "Shanghai Public School Old Boys Club" may do so by communicating with Capt. P. Madar or Vice Capt. J. Johansson, of the first eleven, or with Capt. J. Pringle or Vice Capt. C. M. Brown, of the second eleven, or with Hon. Secretary M. Moosa of the first eleven or S. Moosa of the second eleven. A letter addressed to any of the above at The Shanghai Public School, 200 N. Szechuen Road will be promptly replied to.

FISHERMEN OF U. S. AND CANADA TO MATCH SPEED

Gloucester Much Excited Over Forthcoming Races

(China Press Service)

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 2.—Five fishing schooners are seeking the honor of representing Yankee fishermen in the race for the International Fisherman's Trophy late in Oct. The elimination races will be sailed Oct. 12, 13 and 14 off Eastern Point.

The vessels which will fight it out for the responsibility of trying to regain the trophy won last year by the Halifax fisherman Bluenose are expected to be Mayflower, Elizabeth Howard, Yankee, Henry Ford and L. A. Dunton.

Puritan, the pride of Gloucester, on which many a deep-sea fisherman pinned his faith in the great race this fall, lies piled up on the treacherous shore of Sable Island. Along the water front the old sea dogs say that the reason for Puritan's wreck last winter was that she developed a speed far greater than those on board realised and fetched up on Sable Island long before she was supposed to be near it.

Now Gloucester folk are turning to Henry Ford, which ran aground on Essex Beach when she was being launched in April and was seriously damaged. She was in port recently with a large cargo of salt cod and showed no structural defect as a result of her early mishap. But the fisherfolk wish that Henry Ford were a little longer and openly admit that the other Gloucester entrant, Elizabeth Howard, is too heavy.

From a Gloucester point of view the most profitable fisherman is one measuring between 90 and 105 feet at the waterline. For this reason they frowned upon Mayflower and Bluenose, which measures 111 feet at the waterline.

The principal criticism of Mayflower, barred from the race last year, was that those who built and owned her were not interested in the fishing industry and that her cost was almost $60,000—twice as much as the average cost of a Gloucester fisherman. Her carrying capacity also is less than the average fisherman. It is expected, however, that the International Committee will approve Mayflower's entry, as she has made a number of fishing trips. Although her profits have not been as large as in the case of some of the other vessels, owing to her high first cost, she has been fairly profitable to her owners.

The recent races of the New York Yacht Club off Marblehead attracted great interest among Gloucester fishermen who attended in large numbers to get pointers for their races two months hence.

While the deep-sea fishermen are unsurpassed in the art of getting the most out of their vessels under lower sails or in making runs in from the banks, they are not quite so versatile as the amateurs in the game of hitting the line a few seconds after the start.

In the races of the last two years they have had the benefit of the starting and light sail handling of a number of Marblehead amatours. This year the rules permit only actual fishermen on the after deck, although there is provision for one observer.

THIS IS THE DAY ALL CHINA PAYS TRIBUTE TO MOON

Mid Autumn Festival Celebrated With Merry Making

THE HARVEST MOON
(15th day of 8th moon)

The flying mirror of the moon is dazzling in my eyes.
But, broken, like a sword, my hope that distant home denies.
I come from wandering o'er the Earth—a creeping weed am I!
I seek the elixir of life—but ah! yon Heaven is high.
These moon-lit waters one would think were made of frost and snow.
While in the woods each feathered bird the piercing moonbeams show.
Upon the rabbit in the moon I stare and gazing dote;
As though I hoped to count the hairs upon his snowy coat.
—TU TU.

BY LARRY LEHRBAS

At midnight last night pious Chinese all over the great land burned incense to Heaven and Earth, the father and mother of all things, before little altars scattered here and there. In other cities nearby ancient hills the pious mounted the hills and there, under the moonlight, chanted their incantations and made their offerings of fragrant sandal-wood smoke. In other cities in the interior where the old walls still survive many performed their worship of the moon from on top the city walls, for today is Chung Chiu Chieh, the Mid-Autumn Festival, devoted particularly to worship of the moon.

The Mid-Autumn Festival always falls on the fifteenth day of the eighth moon according to the Chinese calendar when the moon is at its fullest and roundest. It is the happy season—the fall crops have been gathered, the days and nights are about equal in length, debts are paid and obligations discharged so that all may start on a clean sheet, for the Chinese have four holidays—the Mid-Autumn Festival, New Year, the Dragon Boat Festival, and the Winter Solistice—when they 'turn over new sheets.'

About Shanghai the bake shops have been busy for several days baking the little round, gaudy moon-cakes, indigestible as iron bolts to a foreign stomach, and coated in brilliant green, red or yellow with often a white rabbit painted on the colored surface of the cake. These 'cakes of the moon' are as necessary for the proper observance of the Mid-Autumn Festival as plum-pudding at Christmas is in England or ice-cream and fire-crackers at an American Fourth-of-July.

School-children today will exchange mutual gifts, members of families will give presents to other members of the family or close friends. There will be many feasts of succulent roast pig and much tippling of the rice-wine and 'White Rose,' with the natural accompanying singing, music and merrymaking with frequent excursions outside to 'congratulate the moon.'

Before some of the shrines in family homes and hongs will be little idols of a white rabbit—for the Chinese do not believe that there is a man in the moon, sent there to carry sticks the rest of his life for violating an ancient Volstead act or Blue Law—and the little white rabbit has sat through the centuries engaged in the usual vocation of pounding rice. The little white rabbit has a penchant for beans—green beans—and many of the images will have sacrifices of beans before them to give the rabbit a special treat after his centuries of rice pounding.

Through the ages many legends have arisen around the moon and the Mid-Autumn Festival from the time when Wu Ti of the Han Dynasty ordered Chang Sai to send Ta Hsia to find the sources of the Milky Way, that flood of light which is supposed to flow from the seas. Ta sailed to the moon on a moonbeam raft and there saw a flock of women that would make Flo Ziegfeld turn green with righteous envy spinning sweaters for the stars on cold nights, to the modern days when new legends have resulted from the filtering in of scientific lore concerning O Mei.

It was Chang O, the Goddess of the Moon, who first turned the Chinese eyes toward looking for beautiful females of the species in the moon. Chang O, many, many years ago, got up while her husband was sleeping one night and, searching through his pockets discovered the potion of immortality. Chang O fled to the moon with the potion where she was changed into a toad. So it isn't a man in the moon that winks at lovers each night after all, but a blooming blinking toad with jewelled eyes. The moon toad, by the way, is the strange beast that swallows the moon during what less imaginative foreigners call an eclipse. Chang O's husband, the famous archer, proved that conclusively once when he shot an arrow into the sky and released the moon from one of the terrible swallowings.

Only one Emperor has visited the moon, according to Chinese history. He was the Emperor Ming who visited the Palace of the Moon with Lo Kung-yuan (who threw his staff into the heavens and made a bridge for the Emperor to ricsha over). The Emperor Ming crossed over the bridge and saw all the dancing girls, singing and making merry in the moonshine and doing other cabaret features, and became so interested that he taught the dancing girls at his court the steps and movements when he returned to earth. Actors are called disciples of the Pear Garden to this day as a result of the Emperor's little moonlight picnic.

So this evening when you see the Chinese making their sacrifices, burning their buge balls of incense, munching their moon-cakes—look at the moon and you'll see the reason why.

Weddings

MURRAY-GITTINS

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnised at the Peak Church last week, when Miss Elsie Gittins, daughter of the late Mr. John Gittins of Foochow and of Mrs. Gittins, London, was married to Mr. Granville Murray, younger son of the late Mr. Malcolm Murray and Mrs. Murray, of Nairn, Scotland. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. V. H. Copley Moyle, says the South China Morning Post.

The bride, who was charmingly attired in white crepe satin and carried a beautiful shower bouquet, was given away by Mr. Marshall Wood and was attended by two prettily attired bridesmaids, Miss Sheila Lang and Miss Yvonne Shenton, in pale yellow organdie, carrying baskets of yellow flowers.

Mr. Mansfield was the bridegroom's best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at 12d Lugard Road, The Peak, the residence of Mr. Marshall Wood. The happy pair later left for their honeymoon, the bride's going away dress being of navy charmeuse.

HAY-WILLIAMS

At St. John's Cathedral on Wednesday last week an interesting marriage took place when Mr. A. C. Hay, of the Union Insurance Society of Canton, was wedded to Miss E. M. Williams, of Cardiff, by the Rev. Copley Moyle, assisted by the Rev. J. T. Holman, the Hongkong Telegraph reports. Mr. L. Townend was best man.

The bride, charmingly attired in a gown of grey charmeuse and georgette, trimmed with oxydised silver and with hat to match, was given away by Mr. Montagu Ede. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and Honolulu creeper, and was attended by Miss M. Webster as maid of honor, the latter wearing a dress of nigger brown with hat to match.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Hongkong Hotel, after which the couple left for Repulse Bay.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

October 4, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each unchanged in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 69⅝ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 440.

The only changes in our official quotations here today were a drop in the Yen rate to 63½ and a rise in the Franc rate to 1005.

Our market today while at times showing signs of easiness was on the whole steady.

A small business was done in Sterling for December delivery at 3-6 but there were always good buyers at this rate, and in fact at 1-16d lower.

Banks however were sellers of Sterling at 3-5¾ for October delivery, 3-5 13-16 for November and 3-5⅞ for forward.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 76⅝ October, 76 11-16 November and 76¾ for forward delivery. A small business in Yen was done at 62¾ for October-November and 62⅝ for December delivery.

The market closed steady. Banks were quoting 3-6⅝ for Sterling bills, 78¼ for Gold Dollar bills and 1040 for Franc bills.

India bought a small amount of silver in London yesterday. China banks bought in New York and both markets were reported as steady.

Fumigation Work On Shinyo Is Fatal

(China Press Service)

San Francisco, September 3.—Three United States public health officers and two stevedores were suffocated to death while fumigating the Japanese steamer, Shinyo Maru. The men were in the steerage and were overcome by the sulphur fumes.

Settlement Near In French Ship Strike

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 3.—Discussing the dispute with regard to the abolition of the eight-hour day in the mercantile marine, M. Rio, Under-Secretary for the Merchant Marine, expressed the opinion that oversea ports would not follow the example of the inscrits maritimes of Marseilles in striking. He was confident that a settlement would be reached and declared that whatever the inscrits maritimes did the Government's unanimous decision would be adhered to.

THE TEST OF THE STAIRS.

Do they leave you Breathless?

Many people, otherwise in apparently good health, find themselves "out of breath" after slight exertion. To them it seems a long journey to reach the top of a flight of stairs, for they must rest on the way. This breathless condition, when accompanied by pale cheeks and lips, is a characteristic symptom of anaemia, and is caused by the lack of red corpuscles in the blood.

When the blood lacks red corpuscles it is a scientific fact that a course of Dr. Williams' pink pills will cause them to increase. This can be proved by a microscopic examination, or anyone can detect the difference by looking in a mirror, for an increase of red corpuscles shows quickly in the cheeks, and especially in the lining of the eye-lids.

When a girl's colour fades, when her cheeks and lips grow pale, and she soon gets short of breath, and her heart palpitates after slight exertion or under the least excitement, it means that she is suffering from thin blood, otherwise anaemia. Headache and backache often accompany this condition, and nervousness is frequently present.

The remedy is to build up the blood, and for this purpose Dr. Williams' pink pills are unequalled. They restore the blood, bring brightness to the eyes, and put colour in the cheeks and lips.

Now is the time to begin Dr. Williams' pink pills. Get a supply from any dealer, or direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, $1.50 per bottle or $8 for 6 bottles. The price includes postage.

Says Soviets Aid Scientific Research

(China Press Service)

London, September 14.—Two bright spots have been found in the Soviet regime in Russia by a commission sent to that country by the Health Committee of the League of Nations.

These spots are the provisions made for taking care of children and the attention paid to scientific research.

The commission found that, despite all difficulties, the Russian children apparently were being taken care of in a comprehensive way and that the present regime has done its utmost to obtain proper conditions for the development of the child. It adds, however, that "in view of the difficult state of things which at present exists in Russia, the custom has grown up of volutionarily abandoning the child to the care of the state."

Despite all obstacles, it was found that scientific studies in behalf of public health were pursued with the utmost zeal.

"In Moscow alone," the report states, "there were 12 municipal bacteriological laboratories, while in the Moscow district there were 30."

The League Commission found the central public health administration in the hands of fully competent medical officers.

It found also that the difficulty of railway transport in Russia had tended to limit of its cholera and typhus epidemic. If the railway traffic had been normal, the commission said, the cholera would have spread westward.

The commission declared that there was no doubt that the famine and spread of epidemics were related one to the other. "Cholera," it states, "seems to have been almost entirely limited to the famine district, while typhus is mainly restricted to the same district."

The commission suggested that the Russian government conclude a sanitary convention and an anti-epidemic agreement with adjoining countries. The Peoples' Health Commissary expressed his readiness to do so and was particularly anxious to make such an agreement first of all with Poland.

Hankow, Oct. 3.—The remnants of the defeated 2nd Szechuen Army have of late made their appearance in the districts of Chuchihsien and Fenghsien in the north-western part of Hupeh and are, it is reported, looting the districts. Accordingly, Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan has given telegraphic orders to Chang Liensheng, Pacification Commissioner of Hsiangyang, to subjugate the outlaws.

WUHAN TROOPS PAID

Stubborn Case of Boils & Pimples
"Can honestly say I am quite cured"
Our portrait is of Mr. W. BRIDAL, 27, Strand Street, Newtown, Mountain Ash, South Wales, Great Britain, who writes:
"It gives me great pleasure in telling you about the remarkable cure I found in Clarke's Blood Mixture for boils and pimples. After having suffered from time to time from both, and trying all kinds of so-called remedies, and being under doctor's treatment, I thought of Clarke's Blood Mixture, having tried it years ago with success for a similar complaint. After taking one bottle it seemed to drive them out, and after the second bottle I found a decided improvement, and continuing with your Mixture I can honestly say I am quite cured."
CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Today's Harvest Moon Festival And Christianity

BY Y. K. VOONG

(Note: Mr. Voong is superintendent of Grace Baptist Sunday School, Shanghai.)

TODAY is the Chinese Mid-autumn Festival day or the Harvest Moon Festival day. The day will be enthusiastically celebrated by all non-Christian families throughout China. It is one of the beautiful festivals on which a special menu is served at home and many dinner parties of home folks, friends and shopkeepers held at the various hotels and cafes, and the day is enjoyed as long as it lasts, to express a beautiful faith of the people. From the early morning throughout the whole day you can see thousands fancifully dressed. Flag-bedecked baskets of incense-sticks can be seen arranged together with red candles in front of street-doors and in courtyards, lighted and burning, sending up a continuous stream of incense-laden smoke. An examination of the colorful paper flags will show that they are skilfully perforated with the various forms of the flag of the Republic floating in the center of cloud designs. They decorate their homes with this beautiful incense- stick basket as a means of worshipping Heaven. The working people, the tradesmen, the farmers and all those whose occupation requires incessant activity and whose holidays are few and far between, take a holiday today, the Fifteenth of the Eighth Moon with overwhelming joy.

What is the Christian faith behind the festival and the incense-sticks? What should be the attitude of the Christian Church toward it? There are other festivals and folkways of similar nature and meaning, such as the Dragon Boat Festival, Tsing Ming, Winter Solstice, New Year's Day, etc. What should be our attitude toward them? One attitude is to denounce them as ignorant, idolatrous, superstitious and degraded. Custom is the god which they have been taught to worship. Caste tyranny is the bondage in which they are born and in which they live. An all-pervasive ceremonialism and a debasing idolatry are the accursed heritage which is fastened upon them. And above all there is a universal pessimism in thought and life which paralyses all activity and which casts a deep gloom over them from the cradle to the grave.

The right attitude toward these popular festivals will be to regard them as a people's symbolic expression of faith in God and hope for more abundant life. As such they are entitled to claim the entire sympathy of the Christian Church, for that is what the Church itself is in part. The Christians therefore should not be suspicious or indifferent toward these festivals. We should not hesitate to do what the rest of the people do and what their and our ancestors did in their days so long as it is approvable by reason and conformable with our religious tenets. The Churches should formulate simple Christian services of worship and thanksgiving on that day for the use of the people. The Churches would ingratiate themselves in the hearts of the people and thus get a step farther in the winning of the people to Christian standards of living.

China has been long asleep, but she is waking up, and the stretching of those limbs is startling the world and attracting the attention of civilisation. She has not been dead; she has been but sleeping; and it remains for the enthusiasm for these festivals to bring from this giant rubbish heap of creation the battered, ruined masses of humanity, and by the unerring workmanship of the Spirit of God transform us into new creatures. For the love of God is broad enough to compass even the beastliness of China degradation, and the power of God is strong enough to go down into this rubbish and lift up these marred masses and transform us.

These are days of very great perplexity, when a great cloud of trouble hangs and broods over the greater part of the world. This is the time of China's distress and humiliation. It is truly pitiable, but we remember that it is written in the Bible, "Now no chastening for the present seemeth joyous but grievous nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruits of righteousness." So we hope that God will bless China and change the hearts of the people that soon they may turn from the false to the true and seek the Savior. I believe that God certainly will do this because He is compassionate and merciful.

The crying need of China today is the Christian salvation, and men of active service, of good moral character, Christ-like, of heroism, of enthusiasm, of red blood; to carry on under Christ's leadership and inspiration her mighty task; men of large intelligence and deep culture combined with a broad training in Christian truth and philosophy; men who can guide and feed the mind of young China; men who can not only stand firmly by their own conviction, but who also can inspire confidence in all those young people as to their own highest sanity and the sanity and eternal truth of our religion. The greatest need of men nowadays is Church, her helps and organisation. Men need Christ, the Head of the Church. Sinners need a Savior. The weak need strength. The erring need guidance. Men's deepest need is God.

China has, in the recent past, experienced the greatest transition in her history by the conferences of two well-known organisations. One is the National Christian Conference, the first conference of the Church of Christ in China, which was held in the Town Hall, Shanghai, the livest spot in the Orient. And the other is the World's Student Christian Federation, the 11th since its inception in 1895, held in the Tsing Hua College, Peking, the Capital of China. Back from both of the platforms extended a sea of faces—men and women, foreigners and Chinese, old and young. The former was attended by approximately 1,200 delegates, representing the leadership of the Christian Churches in the 19 Provinces and the latter had perhaps the same number of attendance, delegating the International bodies of student leadership, coming from all parts of the world, gathering together to discuss the problems of the Church and the Federation. China is witnessing that change in the present; in the immediate future she must undergo it still more. After centuries of sound, undisturbed slumber, this giant country has at last heard the tramp of marching nations and is awakening to join the procession. Breaking from ignorance, superstition, and backwardness, she is looking for enlightenment and progress; out of the midst of darkness she is emerging into the realm of light. During the last quarter of a century she has seen various revolutions, and she is still witnessing them today.

Perhaps no other country in the history of mankind has been called upon to undergo such great changes as China is being called upon today. As the result of these conferences a real light has been shed on the potential power of the Christian workers and students in the East and West as a vital asset to the gigantic enterprise of reconstructing and regenerating the world which is not only on the verge of an economic collapse but is also witnessing sufferings the parallel of which cannot be found in the history of humanity.

The thinking men of the East today, while looking to the West for wisdom, care not for it when presented in too Western a form. We love to see the best things clothed in an Eastern garb. Twice blessed the man who can come to this land, imbibe the spirit of the people and bring to us, in an Oriental form, the teaching and life of our Lord and the ritual of his faith. They must learn more and more to reach the East through Eastern methods and by the highways of Oriental thought and processes.

The world knows that China had already men of thought and intellectual prowess, who achieved a unique civilisation, embracing philosophic thought and culture and produced exquisite creations in letters and the fine arts when most of the modern races were savages or barbarians.

We don't want men of cold, disturbing doubts and frigid uncertainties; China can furnish enough destructive doubts and negations. We want men who know something thoroughly, who have convictions, who, while teachable, have something positive to impart to an ignorant, thirsty soul. We need in this land today an increasing number of Christian workers who are absolutely loyal to the Spirit of our Lord, who are thoroughly possessed by Him and who rejoice to give themselves, soul and body, to the supreme work of bringing the millions of awakened China into the life, the joy, the fellowship and the image of our blessed Savior.

I appeal to those missionaries and native workers for their love and loyalty to Christ our Lord, that this great land is open to them today and invites with earnestness every one of them to come to give it to the best that they have and are. The Lord Himself invites them and, pointing to China, says: "Behold I have set before thee an open door; and no man can shut it." It is the great door of His opening. Will you not enter in and find your life-work and joy? So that we may speed the coming of God's Kingdom and the full realisation of His will on earth as in heaven and the Chinese Christians will occupy a place second to none in the tremendous task of the reconstruction of China by "Christianising our Social and Religious Customs."

Diphtheria—How It May Be Avoided.

Diphtheria is usually contracted when the child has a cold. The cold prepares the child's system for the reception and development of the diphtheria germs. When there are cases of diphtheria in the neighborhood children that have colds should be kept at home and off the street until recovered. Give them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and they will not have to remain at home long. It also cleans out the culture beds, which form in a child's throat when it has a cold, and minimizes the risk of contracting infectious diseases.

Says Germans Feel That The War Ended Too Soon

New York, Sept. 10.—Many intelligent Germans deplore the fact that the Allies did not invade Germany and parade through the streets of Berlin, according to the Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reisner, who arrived in New York on the George Washington after a two months' tour of Europe, in which he visited eight countries.

"They lament the fact that so many of their countrymen do not understand that they have been defeated and placed at the mercy of the Allies," Dr. Reisner said. "They say that only a march of the Allies through Berlin could have thoroughly explained the situation to the nation. Because their loss of the war was not brought home in some such dramatic manner, they say that millions are unable to understand what has happened. They also think that, if this humiliation had been inflicted on Germany, the Allies, and especially France, would have been put into good humor and would not have pursued Germany so vindictively as they are doing today. Some feel that the failure of the Allies to make a triumphal march through Germany is one of their greatest calamities."

Dr. Reisner quoted an American brewer who is profoundly versed on conditions in Germany as saying that influential Germans were seriously considering the subject of prohibition.

"They are not interested on moral grounds, as many were in America," said Dr. Reisner, "Their love of efficiency is so great that they hate to think of the national waste involved in heavy drinking. In some parts of Germany, my brewer friend told me, they are actually organising for prohibition.

BUY WINE, NOT FOOD

"In Austria, prohibition is actually a live subject. Dr. Hainsch, President of Austria, is an Honorary Chairman of an American prohibition committee. Many public men in Austria want prohibition because the country is so impoverished and because a large proportion of the small amount of money in existence is sent out of the country for wine. There are no vineyards in what is left of Austria. People are starving in the streets. Patients are dying of hunger in the hospitals. Yet people are finding money to buy wine.

"Prohibition is making great strides all over Europe. It was beaten in Sweden by only two votes, 51 to 49. Drink is the curse of England, more so than it ever was of the United States, and intelligent English people realise this. On the other hand, I could find no prohibition sentiment at all in France."

Germany is cultivating every inch of land, he said, planting little vegetable gardens in the cities wherever there is a strip of ground. But there is great suffering through lack of milk. Germany has been badly stripped of cattle. Thousands of children are ill and suffering for lack of milk, he said.

"Nearly all Europe is seething with discontent," said Dr. Reisner. "I believe this is the most critical hour in one hundred years. Because money will buy so little in Germany and because with all the industry in the country wages won't keep workmen from starving there is danger of revolt on a tremendous scale, followed by a situation resembling that in Russia.

"The Reds are saturating Italy. There are murders everywhere. The danger of outbreaks is apparent everywhere. The Austrians are to be admired for their patient endurance of the greatest evils.

"I believe that, unless a miracle happens, there will be a terrific financial collapse all over Europe, followed by almost universal rioting. Ordinarily peaceful people will riot when they need bread for their families."

"There is hardly any chance of saving Europe, unless the United States helps," said Dr. Reisner.

"I cannot understand our Government," he said. "With this situation facing the world, as is clear to every statesman and every intelligent traveler, we have done nothing. We have not even sent a commission abroad to study the situation. Yet if the expected collapse should occur, we would be deeply involved. In the midst of this state of affairs our Government is occupied pottering with tariffs and bonus schemes."

Dr. Reisner told of an interview with President Ebert of Germany. Dr. Reisner began by asking Dr. Ebert if it was true that he was an atheist.

"I am a Christian raised in the Church and have never left it."

"We are told in America," Dr. Reisner said, "that most of the Socialists here are atheists."

"That is untrue," said Ebert. "The fact is that a great many influential members of our party are Christian clergymen."

DISAPPOINTED IN AMERICA

Dr. Ebert then proceeded, according to Dr. Reisner, to describe his own attitude and that of many Germans toward the United States in the following words:

"Our people had great confidence in the justice of America. Even though America came into the war against Germany, they felt they could trust America's justice. This confidence that, if defeated, they would receive fair play through America took the fighting spirit out of Germany. When the fourteen points were proposed we agreed to them, but the promise of those fourteen articles has not been carried out. Now we feel that today America has no right to leave us in the lurch."

Dr. Reisner said German custom officers had not searched him or even asked for his passports when he entered Germany from France.

"Many travelers are searched and roughly handled and some of them deserve it," he said. "The Germans realise that they have to take rigorous measures to keep the country from being stripped since the mark has lost its value. You can get $50 field glasses for $7 or $8, fine cameras for a song, and everything of the kind for one-fifth of its value. One American with us for a time bought a splendid moleskin cloak for practically nothing. It is no wonder that the Germans are making every effort to conserve what they have."

How The Earth Got Its Shape

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority On Subjects Of Scientific Interest

"I have heard it stated that the weight of a body at the equator, as compared with its weight at either pole, is reduced 1-599th. I would thank you for an explanation."—M. J. F., New York.

The weight of a body at the equator is reduced in comparison with the weight of the same body at either pole by a much larger fraction than that which you state. Instead of losing only 1-599th of its weight in passing from the pole to the equator, the body would lose about 1-190th. If it weighed 190 pounds at either pole, it would weigh 189 pounds on the equator. But it is very important for a clear understanding of this that you remember the difference between a "spring balance" and a counterweight scale.

The former alone gives the true weight of a body at any particular locality on the earth. It does this because the force of the spring is not affected by variations in the force of gravity; while, on the other hand, a scale constructed on the principle of counterbalancing weights fails to reveal gravitational changes for the reason that the weight is equally affected on both sides of the fulcrum.

That is to say, if the body to be weighed loses one pound, the standard "weight" in the opposite scale, with which it is compared, also loses one pound. But a spring balance reveals the loss of weight of the body because the pulling force is lessened, while the strength of the spring remains unchanged by the diminution of gravity.

The loss of 1-190th of its weight experienced by a body in being transferred from the pole to the equator is made up of two parts, each due to a different cause. The centrifugal force of the earth's rotation, as has recently been explained in these articles, cause a diminution of 1-289th in the weight of the body, while the increase of the distance from the center of the earth in going from the pole to the equator causes another diminution of about 1-155th. Add these two fractions and you get the whole amount of the loss of weight, which is, as before stated, about 1-190th.

The primary cause of the whole inequality is the earth's rotation, for to that is due the fact that the earth's diameter is greater through the equator than through the poles. The rotation gives rise to centrifugal force, which increases toward the equator.

In consequence of this, the earth has taken an oblate form—i.e., the length of the axis around which it turns is less than the length of a diameter drawn through the equator at right angles to the axis of rotation. If the earth were perfectly spherical and smooth, like a glass ball, every object lying unfastened on its surface would slide toward the equator.

When it was in a molten state the centrifugal tendency affected the whole mass, and before its solid crust had been formed it had already assumed the general shape that it possesses today. The centrifugal force is zero at the poles and a maximum at the equator.

On the equator it is exerted directly in opposition to gravity, but between the equator and the poles it is divisible into two components, one opposed to gravity and the other directed equatorwards. This latter component of the centrifugal force has its maximum effect in latitude 45 degrees, where it causes the plumbline to deviate about one-tenth of a degree toward the equator.

I have given this explanation of the bulging of the earth around the equator in order that you may see the origin of the greater distance of bodies from the earth's center of gravity when they are on the equator than when they are at either pole. There is a graduated increase of the distance in passing from the pole to the equator.

The much misunderstood term "level" means, in a geodetic sense, perpendicular, i.e., at right angles, to gravity. A level plane at the pole is at right angles to a level plane at the equator. Between the two, as the latitude changes, the "levels" assume all possible inclinations to the plane of origin, between 0 and 90 degrees.

The difference of distance from the center between each pole and the equator amounts to about 13 miles. This makes the polar diameter of the earth about 1-300th shorter than the equatorial diameter. But the real form of the earth is somewhat irregular when slight variations are taken into account, and gravity also varies with differences of internal density, so that in determining the actual force of gravity at any point the surest method is to measure it by means of the vibrations of a pendulum, the rapidity of which varies with the effective gravity.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.
